Operation and visualization

ATLAS is specifically designed to support operators in their work when all systems must be immediately accessible. It combines multiple functionalities such as telephone and radio communications, including the prioritization of calls and workflow management. By integrating functionalities within one application, operators always remain in control. With the user-friendly interface, operators control all communication devices in an intuitive way.

ATLAS integrates seamlessly with the WEYTEC smartTOUCH keyboard. There is no need for extra training when adding more modules. The modules present operators with a clear overview, enhancing the efficiency of workflows.

The modular design makes it possible for users to choose and add only the functionalities they need. ATLAS is equally applicable in both simple and complex environments.
